

In recognition of

National Entrepreneurship Week

February 23 – March 1, 2008

As Lieutenant Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania I am pleased to have the opportunity to recognize the National Entrepreneurship Week sponsored by the Consortium for Entrepreneurship Education occurring on February 23, 2008 through March 1, 2008.

This week is a very special week dedicated to celebrating the heritage of entrepreneurship in America and the new opportunities for a new generation. Your mission to expand the visibility of National Entrepreneurship Week and institutionalize it as a celebration of American entrepreneurs as well as the lifelong learning educational opportunities that prepare business leaders of the future is indeed a noble and honorable undertaking that demands the highest respect. Your outstanding commitment to honoring individuals who light the way to a brighter future for all humankind is very admirable.

Pennsylvania is fortunate to possess an organization that provides exceptional services and help to others that have the capacity to make our world a better place. National Entrepreneurship Week certainly recognizes and celebrates the hard work, dedication, and leadership of many deserving businessmen and businesswomen. As such, I share the words of Jim Stovall, who said,

“You need to be aware of what others are doing, applaud their efforts, acknowledge their successes, and encourage them in their pursuits. When we all help one another, everybody wins.”

As Lieutenant Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, I am delighted to add my personal acknowledgement of National Entrepreneurship Week. I wish you the best this week and in your future endeavors.
